PURE waterworks.

RUSTLE votes for waterworks.

You are either working for the waterworks or the mossbacks.

THE city officials and all the courts in the land couldn't make Houston Water Company supply pure water to the citizens of Houston and the city was compelled to buy the plant at a big premium to get pure water.

If the citizens decide to adopt the bond issue, the city would sell its bonds and deposit the $70,000 received for them in local banks and it would be spent through the banks. On the other hand, a private corporation would bring here only the money needed to pay for labor and such incidental building expenses, while the large sums necessary for buying machinery and other material to build the water and light systems would never pass through Brownsville banks, but would naturally be paid at the home office of the said corporation. Besides, the profits of the corporation would, of course, be taken out of Brownsville, while the city would keep its profits here and use them for the benefit of the taxpayers. The sum now deposited in our banks by the Shreveport corporation is about as much as any Brownsville bank will ever be called upon to care for on its account, if the bond issue should be defeated.

Prospector in Death Valley.

With her hair bleached white by desert heat and alkali and almost reduced to a wreck by suffering through lack of food and water, the most courageous woman prospector developed by the present mining excitement reached San Bernardino. She is Mrs. Helen C. Quigley and comes from Utah. Nearly three months ago she left Bullfrog, and has since been seeking treasure where few men have dared to go, making a hazardous trip from the head of Death Valley. For six weeks she saw no living person, the only evidence of former prospectors who had braved the waste being found in occasional human skeletons. For two days she urged her horse and pack mule through the heat with but half a canteen of water to drink and little to eat, and one day she passed in a lonely cave, fearing to go on while the sun beat down. In the Funeral Range she was stricken with fever, found by miners in the nick of time and nursed through weeks of delirium.

Mrs. Quigley prospected thoroughly and located a ledge which she believes will make her fortune, bringing rich samples. Undaunted, she will at once retrace her steps. Some of her ore shows fabulous values, and she believes the entire ledge will go $250 a ton.

Don't think, because a man offers an apology, that he really means it.

Why was Pharaoh's daughter like a Wall street broker? Because she took a little prophet [profit] from the rushes on the banks.

Fighting the Boll Weevil.

The following is an extract from a circular issued by S. A. Knapp, on the boll weevil:

You can gain confidence in your ability to win out by a simple illustration. Drop a few weevils into the finely pulverized, hot dry soil and in less than ten seconds they will be dead. This emphasizes the importance of the dust mulch. Dry hot weather is the greatest enemy of the weevil, and at the same time is the condition best suited to the most rapid development of the plant provided a dust mulch is maintained so as to prevent the escape of moisture.

That this method will win has been proven thousands of times. We give one instance from last year's experience. A field of 15 acres, plowed eight times and hand-picked, produced 12 bales of cotton at $50, equal to $600. Another of 90 acres, plowed three times, produced 15 bales, equal to $750. The first produced $46.15 worth of cotton per acre, while the latter netted only $8.33. The man who plowed eight times received compensation at the rate of $5.76 per plowing. The other received only $2.77, per plowing.

You can make cotton. As said above, it remains with the individual. If the people will make the fight they will win.

Trusting this will be of some encouragement,

Yours very truly,

S. A. KNAPP,
Special Agent in Charge.

They Work.

People who are made of the right kind of material do not make excuses; they work. They do not whine; they forge ahead. They do not wait for somebody to help them; They help themselves. They do not wait for an opportunity; they make it. Those who complain of no chance, confess their weakness—their lack of efficiency. They show that they are not equal to the occasion—they are not greater than the obstacle that confronts.—Eagle Lake Headlight.
